Operators Unlimited developed our full-time operator contracting services to combat these issues. We supply operators for your facility that not only meet the required license level but are also experienced and can assess and identify potential issues before they become plant shut-down situations.

Relief Operators

Operational efficiency and compliance do not have to suffer when unexpected situations arise. Our relief operators are trained to assess plant processes and fill in for your staff. Our experienced and licensed operators follow your facility process and procedures.

Operator of Record

The wastewater operator of record is responsible for the operation, maintenance and recordkeeping necessary to ensure the wastewater treatment plant meets all the requirements of its environmental and operating permits. Is your operator of record in compliance with your plant's permit requirements? In many cases, we find plants do not have someone on staff who meets these requirements. OU can fill this gap for your team and serve as the daily, weekly and monthly sign off. We will supply your facility with an operator with the appropriate license and level of experience needed to help you maintain compliance.

OU handles everything from plant operations, chemicals and solids disposal to sampling, analysis, reporting and regulatory compliance. All resulting in the freedom to focus on your primary business. When identifying headaches within a facility, wastewater and the wastewater treatment plant are often at the top of the list.
